I'm posting using jquery ajax and passing in my JSON object as data, and returning a success message. The problem is that in the PHP code that is processing the script, I have $json_object->var_dump(); So, I can see that I'm successfully POSTing the json and returning the success message, but the var_dump() doesn't show up any of the details I pass into the JSON object. The command line works too, so I know the script is running on the server. The relevant code is here: Javascript: $.ajax({ type: 'post', url:'script.php', dataType: 'json', data: { object: {
